THE CITIZEN.

"I was in the Boston office when he arrived, and I must say," continued Mr. Setwart, bringing his fist upon the table, "he was the worst looking specimen of humanity I ever saw. The modern telegraph tramp isn't a marker. He wore a pair of jean breeches it inches to short for him a pair of the putrid humors, cleanse the stomach, regulate the bowels, and impart a vigor to the whole body. six inches to short for him, a pair of very low shoes, the Kanuck jacket, and a broad-brimmed butternut hat, a relic of his life in Memphis. The wide rim was badly torn, and hung down so KIDNEY COMPLAINT AND NERthat you could see his ear through the of dirt on his upper lip that he called a moustache. His hair hadn't been combed for a week, and he wore the blackest white shirt that was ever seen on the back of a human being. Nervouspinching his upper lip—a habit that he had—he inquired for the manager, and was sent to Milliken.

"Are you the boss?" Tom asked. Milliken smiled, and said he was the manager. Tom then introduced him.
